

Industry is not moving to Michigan Main Street—rural communities under 10,000 population—sentimental reasons.

When a branch of a city manufacturing concern or a new locally-financed industry decides to locate in a country town, the reasons are invariably based on sound economics. A stable labor supply, preferably tied to the community, is a key factor. Transportation is another essential. Availability of water, electricity and plant facilities are also essentials.

Such are the conclusions of C. Dwight Wood, chief of the area development division, state department of economic development, and also Don Weeks, chief of the industrial development division of this agency.

This state department created by Governor Kim Sigler's administration, has been working in local communities for industrial surveys. A total of 176 surveys in the Lower Peninsula are in progress. Thirty-seven industrial area surveys have been completed in the Upper Peninsula. There are 11 new industries have already attracted.

The principal of "self-help" is emphasized by the state department which serves only as a clearing-house for efforts of Michigan communities to get new industries. An illustrated brochure was prepared by Yale (Michigan) Chamber of Commerce. The caption read much discussion. "Move in and Escape Atomic Bomb" secured the invitation.

A "Michigan Mirror" survey has shown a variety of interesting things showing how many Michigan small towns have prospered through local leadership in attracting new industries. Here is other installment of examples, in a third column appears to be added for our complete report.

Crawford County Credit Group Furthered By Board Naming

An effort to form a Crawford County Credit Association received a big boost last Thursday night in a meeting at the Court House in Grayling when nearly 20 interested county merchants named William Tufts, Grayling oil distributor, Leslie Hunter, Grayling dairy owner and Stephen Jorgenson, Grayling appliance dealer as a board of three to draw up ratings, by-laws and a plan of action.

It was tentatively decided to ratify the board's action at another meeting to be called some time after Labor Day. All merchants who joined the association at that meeting would be considered charter members and would pay an entrance fee of $5. Others joining the service later on would pay an entrance fee of $10.00. Dues have been tentatively set at $2.00 per month. The dues would be adjusted downward as the number of members grew, it was stated. The $2 per month dues setup would handle the association with 20 members, Mr. Tufts said. The Grayling oil distributor was the leading person in pushing the organization of the group and he explained that he had held membership in several such organizations and found them very worthwhile.

He served as temporary chairman and explained that the ratings of customers by each individual merchant would be correlated at a central office and then published for the members use. It not only to point out the bad credit risk, but also to show the citizen who pays his bills and can be trusted for goods on a credit basis.

Mr. Tufts said: Nearly 100 per cent of the merchants present admitted that credit trouble seemed to be growing. It was pointed out that Dunn and Bradstreet of New York City, world famous credit house, published the number of business failures expected this coming year and stated that 55 per cent of them would be due to credit difficulties. The inability to collect due accounts.

Further information as to the association and the date of the meeting at which the board's decisions will be passed on by the charter membership who will join that night, will be published in a later issue of the Avalanche.

Elmwood Mausoleum Now Closed In

The Elmwood Cemetery mausoleum is now entirely enclosed except for doors and the floor, City Manager Max Davenport announced.

The floor and doors will be installed in the near future, he said, and even though all of the interior is not completed it will be usable this fall. The compartments will be added later.

The available funds for the project have long been exhausted and any contributions that anyone would like to add to the fund will help reduce the debt against the building, Manager Davenport said.

The cemetery superintendent will be able to rebuild several lots this fall and will do so at actual cost. Anyone interested in having a cemetery lot rebuilt may contact Clayton Gorman, cemetery superintendent.

Indies Drop Comins To Win League Playoff Crown

The Grayling Independents defeated Comins, 9 to 1, on McNeil Field at Roscommon last Sunday to win the league playoff championship to go with the regular season crown for the second straight season.

Left handed Max Niederer was on the mound with Elmer Kellogg doing the catching. Niederer gave up 4 hits and struck out 7, while issuing 3 bases on balls. R. Abbe Comins hurler was tagged for 12 hits, struck out 3 and issued one walk. Both teams made 5 errors.

Grayling pushed over 2 runs in the first, fourth and sixth innings and added 3 more in the eighth. Comins made their lone score in the eighth frame.

Ed Carlson with two hits in three trips to the plate led the Grayling attack. Clyde Anthony collected 2 hits in 5 trips, one a double, Bob Hanson 1 hit in 3 attempts, a triple, Leo Granger hit safely once, Bernie Sadjak collected 2 for 4, one a double, Ed Owens hit safely in his only trip to the plate, Elmer Kellogg doubled in the fourth and Niederer hit twice in four times.

The Midland V. F. W. nine will play Grayling here on Sunday afternoon, September 4. This team is sponsored by the Midland V. F. W. Post and is made up of former Midland High School players who have won their conference championship 13 years straight.

Bob Tinker and Ernie Serrine, pitcher and catcher for the Midland outfit, have signed with the Detroit Tigers. Don Lincoln, another Midland hurler, has played two seasons of minor league ball on the East Coast. The team has a great record and a real ball game should result Sunday when the two teams clash.

Prior to the game here with the Midland V. F. W. next Sunday a batting and baseball throwing contest will be held in which all players of each team will compete. On Monday, Labor Day, the Grayling Indies will meet the Roscommon Shamrocks on McNeil Field in Roscommon as part of the Old Timer's Game. The Grayling Old Timer's in a ball game with the Shamrocks and the Indies also offering a game.

The Grayling-Roscommon Old Timer's game on Labor Day has become almost an institution with the game being played first in one town and then the other. It gives the crowd a lot of fun as well as the players. A big turnout is expected Labor Day in Roscommon to see the two games.

Hold Services For James E. Brown

Funeral services were held Monday morning at 11 A. M., at the Sorenson Funeral Home for James E. Brown, 70, of South Branch Township. Rev. R. C. Puffer officiated and interment was at the Roscommon Cemetery.

Mr. Brown, who had been in ill health for some time, was found dead in his cabin on the South Branch of the AuSable by a neighbor, Walter Smith, according to Sheriff William Golinick who investigated.

Mr. Brown died as the result of a self-inflicted wound. His neighbor talked to the deceased man at about 7 P. M. on last Thursday and the suicide was discovered at about 9 A. M. the next morning.

Sheriff Golinick was assisted in the investigation by the Michigan State Police and said that the weapon used was a .22 caliber rifle. The dead man had been to the hospital early this year and one of his legs was amputated. It was thought by investigating officers that worry over his health had been the prime motive for the suicide.

Expect Heavy Labor Day Accident Toll

Accidents during the three-day Labor Day week end alone will take almost as many Michigan lives as polio has taken so far this year, the Michigan Department of Health warned today.

This would not be true, the Department said, if people had the same fear of the family automobile that they have of polio. Last year 75 times as many Michigan people died in accidents as died of polio.

Hazards during the Labor Day week end will be the same as those of any summer week end, except that excessively heavy traffic will greatly increase the danger of automobile accidents.

Traffic, swimming, and boating, over-exertion in the hot sun and falls are the hazards to be considered. Start early and drive with care. Do not mix alcohol with driving, swimming, boating or any exertion in the hot sun. Observe swimming, diving and boating precautions. Don't show off. Give a little consideration to the middle-aged heart. Remember that you can fracture your skull or break your neck in a fall from a porch rail, off a window ledge or down the cottage steps as well as from a fall from a hay-wagon or horse.

Have the same respect for Labor Day hazards that you have for polio and you'll be here to vacation another year, the Department concluded.

Veterans Receive Insurance Share

Monday was D-Day for 160,000-000 veterans who will share in a $18 billion G. I. insurance dividend to be distributed by Veterans Administration.

Approximately 650,000 Michigan veterans of World War II are eligible for a share of the dividend and will collect an estimated $115,000,000. Amounts to the individual will vary depending on the amount of insurance in force, length of time paid on the policy, age of the veteran, and other factors.

Starting today, application forms for the National Service Life Insurance dividend will be available in every post office, V-A office and veterans' organization within this country.

Veterans living outside the United States may obtain the forms in U. S. Foreign Service offices throughout the world. Distribution of forms to those still in service will be made by the armed services.

The application forms are simple to fill out, but there is a danger that some veterans may be careless in supplying necessary information. Therefore, V-A urged all veterans to take careful, second look at their applications before dropping them in the mailbox.

The service serial number (item 4 on the form) is particularly important, V-A said. While hundreds of veterans may have the same or similar names, no two have the same serial number designation. Veterans should re-check the digits in this number with particular care before mailing their forms, V-A cautioned.

Incomplete or erroneous entries on the application forms only serve to delay payments so it is to a veteran's own interest to avoid mistakes V-A pointed out.

There are nine spaces on the application form: (1) full name, typed or printed; (2) mailing address; (3) county; (4) service serial number; (5) branch of service; (6) birth date; (7) insurance number (this item is helpful but not essential if other information is supplied fully); (8) V-A claim number, if a veteran has one, and (9) the veterans signature.

Walter Eaton of Park Street, was pleasantly surprised at 3:30 Saturday morning when his son, Elmer, drove in from Hammond, Indiana. Elmer brought a friend with him and after seeing the sights in and around Grayling to live in.

Think it's easy to teach someone to drive? The group above, a five-day Driver-Training Institute in Ann Arbor Monday, August 22 through Friday, August 26, discovered most drivers pick up at least a dozen bad habits from relatives or friends acting as teachers. Co-sponsored by State Department of Public Instruction, University of Michigan extension division and Automobile Club of Michigan, the Institute fitted instructors to teach driver-training in Michigan high schools. Above, Charles Watson of Sandusky gets driver-training diploma from Institute Director Norman E. Borgerson of State Department of Public Instruction, while Roland Grain of Saranac (left) and Earl Glerke of Grayling watch. All expenses scholarships were awarded the 78 educators by Auto Club.

Six Injured In Auto Accident

Six young people were injured in an auto accident early Sunday morning on the old lake road one mile west of Grayling.

The car, owned by Joseph Brady Brady of Grayling, was driven by his brother, Mickey. Headed east towards Grayling, the car crossed the road and crashed into a cluster of four oak trees, according to Sheriff William F. Golinick who investigated.

Most seriously injured was Donna Nelson of Saginaw who has been staying at her parents summer home at Danish Landing on Lake Margrethe. She suffered fractures of both legs and severe head lacerations. She was moved to a Saginaw hospital Sunday by ambulance from Grayling Mercy Hospital, where all received medical attention.

Mickey Brady suffered a crushed chest and Richard Dawson multiple fractured right arm and head abrasions. Maureen Kennedy suffered a fractured ankle. Norma Parkinson and Burton Peterson suffered lacerations, abrasions and bruises.

It was necessary to use bars to pry young Brady and Miss Nelson from the car, Sheriff Golinick said. The two young people were trapped between the front seat and the dashboard. The vehicle was very badly demolished in the crash, the Sheriff added.

Pilot Slightly Injured In Spectacular Crash

Lt. Thomas O. Quinn, 28, of Indianapolis, Indiana here with the Indiana Air National Guard was painfully but not seriously burned in a runway crash last week.

The plane piloted by Lt. Quinn was leading another F-51 piloted by Lt. Carl Miller, 28, of Lebanon, Indiana down the runway in a wartime formation takeoff when the latter's plane ran into the lead plane. The accident was due, Indiana Guard officers said to poor visibility from a F-51 when on the ground. The planes part of the 13th Fighter Squadron, were taking off for a night altitude mission over Detroit when the accident occurred. The prop of the last plane chawed through the fuselage gas tank and an oxygen tank at the same time setting off a spectacular explosion and blaze. Lt. Quinn immediately shut off his engine and leaped from the plane, opening his parachute, he rolled on the ground in it putting out the flames which caused painful second degree burns on his head, neck and shoulders. He was flown shortly after to Percy Jones Hospital at Battle Creek.

Lt. Quinn's plane was almost totally destroyed. The engine, propeller and instruments will be salvaged. Lt. Miller's plane was damaged in the tail and also the propeller.

Truck convoys of the Indiana Air Guard left Grayling Friday and Saturday with the rail movement also on Saturday. The fighter and transport planes left for their home bases on Sunday morning.

Mr. and Mrs. Max Laage of Grayling and Pastor and Mrs. Roy Newberry and Mrs. John Turner of Frederic attended the 10 day annual reunion of the Re-organized Church of Jesus Christ of Latter Day Saints held at Park of the Pines on Lake Charlevoix, Boyne City. Mrs. Dan C. Babbitt and Mrs. Mathewson went a day.

Although the School staff will be on duty Tuesday the students will not be enrolled until 9 A. M. Wednesday, September 7. A shortened program will allow the pupils to be dismissed at noon.

Parents or an older person should come with beginning kindergarten pupils. The health record and any other information that will aid in helping the child should be brought. To enter kindergarten a child should be 5 years of age not later than November 1, 1949.

Considerable work has been done in both buildings this summer. Oscar Goss, Walter LaMotte and Leslie Goss have been hard at it and have the buildings in fine shape. Besides the painting and cleaning, the South Side desk tops have been sanded and refinished. Vents have been added to the lavatories. Half the roof drains of the North Side school have been changed from the sanitary sewer to the storm sewer. New tile entrances have been installed and old worn stair treads have been replaced with new ones. The gym floor has been sanded and refinished. The hallways, lower part of gym and outside trim of the building have been painted.

A well qualified staff has been contacted to put the new program into action. Mr. Kumpula has resigned the High Principalship to devote his full-time to his classroom duties. Mr. Stripe will assume the principals duties.

State Bar of Michigan Views New State Laws

Editors Note: This is one in a series of articles on laws which were passed at the 1949 session of the Michigan Legislature. They affect you and every resident of Michigan. The entire series is prepared as a public service of the State Bar of Michigan under the direction of Russell A. Searl, Lansing, chairman of the State Bar Committee on Legislation and Law Reform. The articles are objective in nature and do not attempt to comment on the relative worth of the legislative enactments but rather to present the most important facts and alert you to the changes these laws represent as they become effective on September 23 1949.

On September 23 next, practically all of the 317 public acts passed at the 1949 regular session of the legislature and signed by Governor C. Mennen Williams will take effect. The purpose of this series of articles is first to refresh the public in regard to the general provisions of such acts on the eve of their effective date, and second to call attention to a number of acts which are of general interest but which were not of sufficient importance to catch the headlines at the times of their enactment. Of the 341 bills introduced in the Senate and 546 bills introduced in the House of Representatives, a total of 331 were passed by both houses. Of these, 8 were vetoed by Governor Williams, none of the vetoes being overridden, one was recalled by the legislature and five apply to purely local situations and are classified as local acts.

Of the bills enacted, only one, Public Act 1, was initiated by petition. This measure would authorize the sale of colored oleomargarine. The initiation of bills by petition, although seldom resorted to, is authorized by our state constitution. Under the constitution, the legislature must either enact such legislation without amendment within 40 days from the date the measure is received by the legislature or else the proposed legislation would be submitted to the electors at the April, 1949 election. The legislature chose to enact the bill.

However, it is still problematical whether this will go into effect on September 23, if at all.

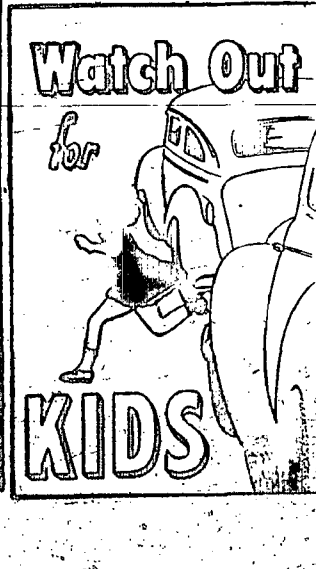

Various associations of the dairy industry caused referendum petitions to be circulated and current reports are that they have already obtained sufficient signatures which, if filed with the Secretary of State, will prevent the measure from going into effect. This will cause the issue to be submitted to the electors at the general November, 1950 election. The referendum action was taken under the referendum provision of the constitution which provides that if a petition is filed with the signatures of qualified and registered electors equal in number to five per cent of the total votes cast for governor at the last election at which a governor was elected, the

3 Crawford Farmers Make Pasture Tour

A representative group of farmers from Crawford County were invited by the Northern Counties who have soil conservation district to study new experimental pasture trials. On the tour there was a total of 75 farmers who are directors of soil conservation district in Cheboygan, Alpena, Presque Isle, Emmet, Chippewa, Charlevoix, Otsego and Antrim Counties. The experiments on various pasture were conducted by Walter Kirkpatrick, County Agricultural Agent and the directors of the soil conservation district of Antrim County. The tour started at the Eastern part of Antrim County then circled around the northern part of Torch Lake and ended near Elk Rapids. Some of the various pastures seen were seedings of Alfalfa Brome, Tree foil, orchard grasses, ladino clover, white Dutch clover and Red Canary grass. There is no doubt that much work should be done on pasture and these trails are certainly a good start. It will be interesting to see how they come along in another year or two. On the tour there were a couple of high spots such as the ladino clover field of 7 acres that had been carrying up to that date 16 head of milking cows with the result that the farmer gets 3 more cans of milk per day over what he did the previous year. An other interesting thing was seeing 40 head of cattle pasturing on around 12 acres of Red Canary grass which they could not keep down. It was estimated that this pasture would hold at least 50 or more head. Red Canary grass should be planted on low lands. Your County Agent would like to see more farmers put in a few acres. It sure will give you the pasture when you need it in July and August. If you have low ground and are interested, come in and talk it over with your County Agent.

We shouldn't overlook the fine chicken dinner served by the East Port Grange.

Farmers attending from this County were Roy Papenfus, Stanley Hummel, and Charles Owen.

HOSPITAL AID, SEPTEMBER 8

A Remarkable Event

The celebration of Herbert Hoover's 75th birthday was a remarkable event on several counts. When he left the Presidency his public popularity was at a low ebb, and many thought that he was bound for obscurity. But history has a way of confounding prophets, and that was true in Mr. Hoover's case. In the intervening years he has mellowed, grown in stature and influence, and earned the wide respect and admiration of the country as a whole. It is a notable fact that, among the flood of congratulatory messages sent him on the anniversary, there were many from men high in Democratic as well as Republican councils. One of the warmest, indeed, came from President Truman.

In the birthday speech Mr. Hoover dwelt on the great problem of government spending; on the confiscation of resources through heavy taxation, on the danger of socialization by indirection, and on the loss of individual freedom that, in his opinion, would follow the creation of a welfare state in this country. He used conditions in England, with her grim austerity, as an example.

Regardless of one's views as to government policy, no one can doubt that Mr. Hoover is a great authority on the administration and the fiscal affairs of the huge Federal establishment. The voluminous Hoover Commission report, made under his direction and chairmanship, mark the first real effort to blueprint a detailed course or achieving greater economy and efficiency without sacrificing any essential governmental function.

When the reports—which go into every department and branch and division and ramification of the government—first began to appear, even the people who favored them most strongly were doubtful if they would be placed into practical effect on any extensive scale because opposition immediately arose from bureaus affected. Now, the outlook is much brighter.

St. Mary's Parish in Grayling is using a unique novelty system of providing funds for its church building program. Hollow wooden "bricks" are being distributed to be used as banks to build up the savings fund. The drive employs the slogan, "Fill-a-Brick" and "Build-a-Wall." "Bricklayers" on the committee are, left to right: Jerome Kessler, Ollie Jankoviak, Richard Lovely, Lawrence Hunter, Leland Marshall, Robert LaMotte, Wesley LaGrow, Arnold Burrows and Fr. John Breitenstein, pastor. Missing are John Brady, William LaGrow and John Peterson.

Hollow Novelty Bricks Prop For Grayling Church Drive

Hollow wooden novelty bricks and "Fill-a-Brick" and "Build-a-Wall" slogans are the "props" being used in a drive conducted by St. Mary's parish here to provide funds for the construction of a new church.

Working on the principle that it is easier for people to put aside an occasional dime than make a large contribution in a formal drive, Fr. John Breitenstein, pastor of St. Mary's parish, has already had over 200 of the brick "banks" built and distributed.

The bricks will make a fitting souvenir of the drive, the parish and the community, Fr. Breitenstein states. Resorters from Michigan, Ohio, Pennsylvania and other states who are staying in the vicinity of this Grayling parish have taken bricks to help their summer parish. One serviceman from the parish has a brick with him in California. Another friend of the parish has one in Saskatchewan.

Fr. Breitenstein has suggested that the banks may be used as penalty boxes or "cussin' bricks." A dime in the brick each time a person lets his tongue slip would help him overcome the habit and help the building fund at the same time. The Grayling pastor also promised to "bless them before we used them to take the curse off them."

"Bricklayers" on the "Fill-a-Brick" and "Build-a-Wall" committee are Jerome Kessler, Ollie Jankoviak, Richard Lovely, Lawrence Hunter, Leland Marshall, Robert LaMotte, Wesley LaGrow, Arnold Burrows, John Brady, William LaGrow and John Peterson. They are performing the bulk of brick distribution work and will collect the donations about December 1. Donors may keep the bricks or refill them, Fr. Breitenstein suggests.

Fall Will Arrive September 23

Fall will begin on Friday, September 23, at 4:06 A. M., Eastern Standard Time, when the sun enters the autumnal equinox.

This will be the feature attraction of an astronomical nature during September, according to Dr. Hazel M. Losh, assistant professor of astronomy at the University of Michigan.

If you want to check your directions note where the sun rises and sets on September 23, Dr. Losh advises, since it will be at exact east and west on that date. The day and night will be of equal length and the sun will start its long journey south of the equator. Days will be increasingly shorter and the nights longer until the sun reaches its most southern point, the winter solstice, in December.

The bright planet, Jupiter, will continue to dominate the night sky during September, according to Dr. Losh. Jupiter will be in the south while Venus will be the bright "evening star" in the west. Take a look in the west at twilight on the evening of September 25 and the crescent moon will be very close to Venus.

State Parks Draw 11 Million Visitors

With the Labor Day week end, last of the "big three" summer holiday week ends yet to come, state parks have drawn 11,074,000 visitors compared to 9,473,000 last year at this time, the Conservation Department's parks division announces.

Memorial Day, the Fourth and a generally hot July helped boost attendance figures especially at toes which grade U. S. No. 1 U. S. Commercial, U. S. No. 1 Size B, and U. S. No. 2 (1 1/8 inch minimum). The price support rates are based on the national season average of 60 per cent of parity.

SHORT STORIES

Smiling Loser

By Richard Hill Wilkinson

KIRBY FOUND the girl seated on an upturned box behind the stables crying. He hesitated, feeling awkward, then said:

"Hello. Anything wrong?"

She looked up quickly, appraisingly. "No, please go away."

Instead, Kirby squatted on his heels. "You must have lost some money on that last race, Black Fox fooled every one by not coming in. I lost too."

"I suppose I'm a baby to cry, but I couldn't help it. I—we—father and I staked everything on Black Fox. Then that terrible I'm-a-Runnin', who nobody thought had a chance, had to win."

She hesitated, dabbing at her eyes. He seemed like a nice young man. And she did so want company and to talk.

He discovered her name was Polly Hayden. The next day he called at her house and met her father, a jolly faced old gentleman with white walrus moustaches.

"We really shouldn't feel so badly," Polly told her father after the introductions were over. "Kirby lost a lot more than we and he isn't complaining at all."

That night Polly and Kirby had dinner at a little inn out on the Tamiami trail.

He knew she was wondering when and how he was going to pay his racing debts, and where he was going to get the money to establish himself in the law business. You just can't hang out a shingle in Miami and expect business at once. But he didn't offer the information. The next day he hired an office on Flagler street, then called up Col. Stratton and asked that racing enthusiast to meet him at Hialeah.

"Colonel," he said over a sandwich and coffee an hour later. "I'm going to take you up on the offer you made me for I'm-a-Runnin'. He's yours for $50,000."

The colonel stared. "Now wait a minute, Kirby. Has the horse died or broken a leg or something?"

"Nothing of the sort," Kirby laughed. "I'm quitting racing for good. It's no business for an energetic young lawyer to be wasting

"We'll buy another horse, won't we—we both love horses, don't we?"

his time at I hired an office this morning."

They went out to the stables and looked at I'm-a-Runnin'. The colonel couldn't understand it, but he wrote his check for $50,000 and the papers were passed. Conscious of a queer sensation in the pit of his stomach, Kirby headed back for the stables for a last farewell. Outside I'm-a-Runnin's stall he stopped dead still at sight of Polly Hayden talking with his stable boy.

HER EYES blazed at him. "Sol! The good loser. The man who can lose everything, who will have to spend the rest of his life paying his racing debts and still smile! Oh, what a fool I've been!"

"Wait a minute! Listen!" He caught at her arm but she jerked away. He followed her out to her car. "You've got to listen," he said desperately, getting in beside her. "I only did it because I thought it would make you feel better. And it worked. I meant it when I said I was through with racing. I've sold I'm-a-Runnin' to Colonel Stratton. Look!" He held out the bill of sale and the check.

She stared at him round-eyed, frightened. "Oh, you shouldn't have! Kirby, you shouldn't! You'll never be able—I mean, you love horses. Any one can see that. You loved I'm-a-Runnin'."

"Not half as much as I love you," he told her soberly. He put his arm around her. "You believe that, don't you? You must believe it."

"Darling, of course I do. And I am glad that you're going to be a respectable lawyer, only—only—"

"Only what?"

"Well, sometime, after we've been respectable for a good long while, we'll buy another horse, won't we? A horse as great as I'm-a-Runnin'? Because—we both love horses, don't we?"

"We do," Kirby agreed joyfully. Released by WNU Features
